

TEVILLAS KEILIM

Items used in the preparation or consumption of food, which were once owned by a non-Jew and are now owned by a Jew, must undergo tevillas keilim (ritual immersion in a mikvah) before they can be used. The following is an outline of some of the basic halachos of tevillas keilim:

Tevillah is only required for items made of metal or glass, and this includes aluminum, cast iron, chrome, pewter, Pyrex, stainless steel, tin, and many other materials. Tevillah is not required for utensils made of cardboard, ceramic, cork, leather, paper, plastic, rubber, stone, Styrofoam, or wood. China should have tevillah without a bracha. Disposable aluminum pans do not require tevillah regardless of how many times they are used.

Tevillah is only required for utensils which have food contact. Therefore, a stovetop grate does not require tevillah since it never touches food, and neither does a water-pan used with a chafing dish, but tevillah is required for a barbecue spit or the food pan used with a chafing dish. The cover of a chafing dish must also undergo tevillah; although it seemingly does not have contact with the “actual” food, it is considered to have food contact because of the considerable amount of steam that rises up from the food to the cover.

A glass cake tray requires tevillah even if the cake is always placed in cupcake holders or on a doily (i.e., never touches the actual tray), because the doily etc. is considered tafel/negligible to the food. A can opener does not have (intentional) food contact, and therefore it does not require tevillah. The tray in a toaster oven or microwave requires tevillah, because people put food right onto it, but the chamber of those appliances does not require tevillah, since they do not have (intentional) food contact. The following are some other examples of items which have no food contact and therefore do not require tevillah: corkscrew, dishwashing basin, knife sharpener, and napkin ring.

Tevillah is primarily required for utensils that have contact with food that is either “ready to eat” (e.g. flatware, plates), or used with the food to the point that it is ready to eat (e.g. pots, pans). If a utensil is intended for use with raw food, but the same item could also be used for meal-ready food, then tevillah should be performed without a bracha. For example, a pair of kitchen scissors bought to cut raw meat will not be used with meal-ready food, but since there are some who use those scissors for cutting vegetables, tevillah should be performed without a bracha. There is a difference of opinion as to whether tevillah is at all required if the utensil can only be used on raw foods (e.g., a metal rolling pin).

Peelers, graters, and food processors which will be used with meal-ready food (e.g., carrots) require tevillah with a bracha. If they will only be used for foods that require further cooking (e.g. potatoes), then tevillah should be performed but no bracha should be recited. Colanders, skewers, and spatulas are used with food that is fully cooked, and, therefore, they require tevillah with a bracha (assuming they are metal or glass).

Containers used for storage of food, and from which no one ever eats directly, should have tevillah without a bracha. Rav Gedalia Dov Schwartz, shlita, has ruled that any electrical appliance that might get ruined as a result of tevillah, is excused from the requirement of tevillas keilim, and may be used without tevillah.

The item undergoing tevillah must be free of chatzizos – items that block the water from having direct contact. This means that not only must all stickers and labels be removed before tevillah, but the person performing the tevillah should be sure not to grip the item too tightly when it is in the mikvah (for if he does, his hand will be a chatzizah).

The bracha of אשר קדשנו במצוותיו וצוונו על טבילת כלים על טבילת כלים (“asher kiddishanu b’mitzvosav v’tzivanu al tevillas keilim”) is recited before tevillah begins. If more than one person will be performing tevillah, one person may recite the bracha for all of the participants.

The following is a list of items which do or do not require tevillah, based on the assumption that the utensil is both used and manufactured in the standard manner. Those which are listed as requiring tevillah is based on an assumption that they are made from a form of metal or glass which requires tevillah, as opposed to plastic, paper, rubber, wood, or other materials, which are excused.

The status for some entries is marked with a “1” or a “2” which refers to the following:

- 1 If this person will sometimes use the utensil with meal-ready food (e.g. many fruits and vegetables), tevillah is performed with a bracha. If it will only be used with food that requires further cooking, tevillah should be performed but no bracha should be recited.
- 2 If the utensil ever has food contact, tevillah is required with a bracha; if the utensil never has food contact, no tevillah is required.
