The core text of the Haggadah is the Biblical passage of Arami oved avi, which tells the story of the Exodus in a few brief verses, which we then interpret and expound on at length. Why were these verses chosen as the core of the Haggadah, rather than the more extensive passages from the Book of Shemot, where the events of the Exodus appear in much greater detail? Rav Soloveitchik explained that Chazal chose the brief version specifically because understanding it requires us to expound and interpret — because the mitzvah of retelling the story of the Exodus must encompass the interpretive effort of Torah study.

Perhaps we can suggest another approach to answer this question based on the nature of the verses of Arami oved avi. The Torah prescribes that a pilgrim brings his first fruits (bikkurim) to the Temple, he expresses gratitude for his bounty by recalling the Exodus from Egypt, reciting these words. Using these words in the Haggadah thus highlights that the mitzvah is not merely retelling the story of the Exodus, but expressing our gratitude toward Hashem and acknowledging that our own successes stem from the Exodus. In fact, Abudraham suggests that the very word Haggadah is derived from the pilgrim's declaration "higgadti hayom", which, as he explains, means "I give thanks on this day." The Haggadah is not merely a story but a means of giving thanks.

I would like to thank the devoted staff of the OU who work tirelessly to ensure that we have kosher food and kosher information, both year-round and for Pesach, and to the editors of the Passover Guide for their indefatigable efforts in producing it each year.

Wishing you all a chag kasher vesame'ach,

Jewish holidays are not just a commemoration of historical events; they represent moments in our calendar with special spiritual energy. When reciting "Zman Cherusaynu" in the Yom Tov prayers, the time of freedom we refer to is not just the biblical Exodus story, but also our own opportunity for personal redemption.

The Baal HaTanya writes that Mitzrayim should also be understood to represent the Mitzarim (constrictions) experienced in our own lives.

Chazal tell us that forbidden foods serve to clog our spiritual hearts. Conversely, kosher food serve to unlock our sacred souls. The kosher diet helps us to get beyond our limitations and reach our hallowed potentials.

It is no wonder that as our forefathers embarked on their departure from Egypt, they were given two food-related commandments: Matzah and Korban Pesach. Those mitzvos served to set our people on a spiritual journey culminating in the Sinai revelation and ultimate entrance into the Land of Israel.

The many hundreds of OU Kosher staff toil around the clock and around the globe to ensure that we, Klal Yisrael, receive our spiritual nourishment to free us from our constraints and limitations.

Wishing you an emancipating Zman Cheyrusaynu.

WINES for THE AGES

When we first opened Herzog Wine Cellars, we could not have known what the world would become over a quarter century later. Yet we chose to look ahead with faith and with hope. As a family whose legacy endures across generations, we have learned that true strength rests in trust—in one another, and in the promise that tomorrow may shine even brighter than today. With that same spirit, we craft wines to be savored in the present or cellared with care, awaiting an occasion decades later.

PREPARING FOR FREEDOM: OU's Annual

A timely refresher on the mitzvot and customs of Pesach

From kashering kitchens and cleaning to searching for chametz and setting the Seder table, every mitzvah and custom helps us experience Zman Cheiruteinu in our own homes and lives. Following is a helpful review of these mitzvot and customs. As always, questions about practical observance should be directed to an Orthodox rabbi.

When is Pesach this year, and when is the latest I can eat chametz?

Pesach takes place from the 15th through the 22nd of the Hebrew month of Nisan.

This year, Pesach 2026 falls at sundown on Wednesday, April 1, through nightfall on Thursday, April 9.

It is forbidden to eat chametz as of Wednesday morning, April 1. See page 4 for the corresponding zmanim (times).

What exactly is chametz?

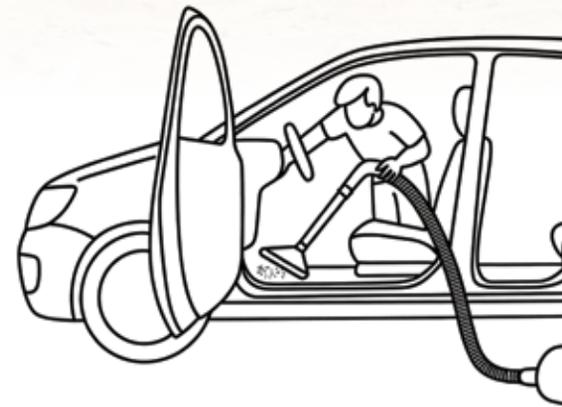

Chametz, often referred to as “leaven”, is any food created by allowing grain (specifically wheat, oat, spelt, rye or barley) and water to ferment and rise. Common examples of chametz include bread, crackers, cookies, pretzels and pasta.

Even foods with minute amounts of chametz ingredients, or foods processed with utensils or machinery that are used for chametz, are not permissible for Pesach use. Practically speaking, any processed food not certified as kosher for Pesach may include chametz ingredients and should not be eaten on Pesach. For a list of items that are acceptable despite being processed and not having a kosher for Pesach certification, see page 62.

Is my home kosher for Pesach?

Keeping a year-round kosher home is not the same as a “kosher for Pesach” home.

On Pesach, eating chametz, or having chametz in your possession, is forbidden. This mitzvah takes up the bulk of our Pesach preparations, as we clean and search our homes, cars and offices to remove all remnants of edible chametz.

What does this look like in practice

Maot Chitim – money for the poor

Before Pesach, it is customary to give Maot Chitim (literally, money for wheat) to the needy to help them to purchase matzot and other food for Pesach. OU's Maot Chitim campaign efforts enable families affected by poverty to celebrate the holiday with dignity. Visit ou.org/hunger to participate in this meaningful mitzvah.

Cleaning

One's entire home and car (and office, if you do not sell your chametz there) must be cleaned of all edible chametz. Check and clean out any place that may have come into contact with chametz during the year. (If you have kids at home, this might mean under beds and in closets, and in knapsacks.) Either clean all toys or set aside designated clean toys.

Selling

Rather than disposing of all of one's chametz, it is customary to sell it to a non-Jew. Place chametz in a specially marked and sealed place, e.g.: a room or closet. That storage space can then be leased to a non-Jew for the duration of the holiday. Ask your Orthodox rabbi to help you arrange this. For guidelines on what can and should be sold, as well as tips for those whose custom is to not sell chametz, see page 42.

Different Utensils

Year-round cooking and eating utensils should not be used, and separate utensils should be purchased exclusively for Pesach use. (In some cases, year-round utensils may be kashered for Pesach, in consultation with a rabbi.) For more details, check out our "Kashering Primer" on page 46.

The busy days before Pesach – special mitzvot and customs

Have you combed through every inch of your home for chametz, covered every inch of your kitchen with aluminum foil or other material, and searched every corner? You're ready for the next step:

Ta'anit Bechorot - The Fast of the Firstborns

This year, Wednesday, April 1, is a fast day for firstborn males. During the tenth plague, all the firstborns in Egypt were killed. G-d passed over the homes of the Jews and spared their firstborns. To commemorate this, firstborns fast on Erev Pesach.

Many congregations conduct a siyum. (The conclusion of a portion of Torah learning is a celebratory occasion that allows for a seudat mitzvah, a ritual feast). A siyum exempts firstborn males from fasting altogether.

Bedikat Chametz - the search for chametz

Using a candle or flashlight, we inspect our homes for any chametz that we might have overlooked. This year, Bedikat Chametz will take place on Tuesday evening, March 31, after dark. Kol Chamirah should be recited. Any chametz found should be set aside to be burned the next morning.

Biur Chametz - burning the chametz

Biur Chametz takes place on the morning of Erev Pesach, Wednesday, April 1. Kol Chamirah should once again be recited at this time. See page 4 for the latest time to burn your chametz.

Eruv Tavshilin - preparing for Shabbat

This year, the first two days of Pesach go straight into Shabbat. Normally, cooking on Yom Tov is only permitted for that day itself, not for another day. An eruv tavshilin creates a symbolic “bridge” permitting preparation for Shabbat. (It does not allow you to cook on one day of the holiday for the following day).

This year, an eruv tavshilin (see page 52) must be performed before sundown on Wednesday, April 1:

1. Place a piece of matzah and a hard-boiled egg, on a plate.
2. Lift the plate and recite the blessing “Al mitzvat eruv”. This act marks the start of Shabbat meal prep, making any Yom Tov cooking an extension of it.

The food set aside should be eaten on Shabbat, preferably at the Shabbat meal.

It's Finally Pesach! What You Need to Know

Not all the days of Pesach are the same or have the same laws.

The first two days and the last two days

The first two days (sundown, Wednesday night, April 1, through nightfall, Friday, April 3) and the last two days (sundown, Tuesday night, April 7, through nightfall, Thursday, April 9) are observed with Shabbat restrictions on work and creative activity.

The exceptions are carrying, and the use of fire, which are both permitted (in certain circumstances) if needed for cooking and food preparation.

Chol HaMoed – The Intermediate Days

The intermediate days of Pesach (Shabbat, April 4 – Tuesday, April 7) are considered “semi-festive.” Although they are the “weekdays” of the holiday, not all work, activities and crafts are permitted. The laws of Chol HaMoed are nuanced. An Orthodox rabbi will be able to give you detailed guidance.

You've made it to the Seder!

The Mitzvot of the Seder:

There are two Torah obligations and five rabbinical obligations to perform during the Seder.

Torah-based Mitzvot

Relating the story of the Exodus (Maggid—reading from the Haggadah)

Eating matzah

The Rabbinical Mitzvot

Arbah Kosot: Drinking four cups of wine

Maror: Eating bitter herbs

Hallel: Reciting psalms of praise

Afikoman: Eating an extra piece of matzah for dessert as a reminder of the Pesach offering

Demonstrating acts of freedom like sitting with a pillow and leaning to the left when eating matzah and drinking wine

The Seder Plate

The Seder plate is arranged with symbolic foods that follow the order of the Haggadah. The prepared plate is placed in front of the leader of the Seder, who gives out the various foods to each participant.

What do we put on the Seder plate?

Charoset: a mixture of apples, nuts, wine, and cinnamon, symbolizing the bricks and mortar of ancient Egypt

Karpas: a vegetable (customarily parsley, radish, potato, or celery)

Maror: bitter herbs (may consist of romaine lettuce, endives, or pure horseradish)

Beitzah: a roasted egg

Zeroa: a piece of roasted or meat or poultry. There should be a kezayit of meat on the bone

Salt water: Place a bowl of salt water for dipping the karpas near the Seder plate.

Matzah

Three whole matzot are placed next to the Seder plate. We are commanded to eat matzah three times during the Seder:

1. At the start of the Seder meal (with a special bracha)
2. For korech (Hillel sandwich) together with the maror
3. For the afikomen (at the end of the meal)

For details on the specific amounts and requirements see “Sizing Up the Seder” on page 17.

Maror – Bitter herbs

Everyone is obligated to eat bitter herbs twice at each Seder:

1. A kezayit of maror, dipped in charoset
2. A second amount inside the matzah sandwich (korech)

Maror must be raw and unpreserved. Therefore, commercially prepared grated horseradish, which is packed in vinegar, may not be used for the mitzvah. For details on the specific amounts and requirements see “Sizing Up the Seder” on page 16.

Telling the story of the Exodus and singing Hallel

We encourage young children to participate in the Seder to the best of their abilities. It is customary for the youngest person at the Seder to ask Ma Nishtana, the Four Questions.

We close the Seder with Hallel, which praises G-d and His special relationship with the people of Israel. The Seder traditionally concludes with singing (and dancing to) several lively songs that celebrate our treasured relationship with G-d.

When Pesach ends

All dietary laws and restrictions remain in effect until nightfall after the eighth day of Pesach, which will be April 9th in the evening

Chametz that was properly sold may only be eaten once the resale is confirmed by your rabbi (agent). Chametz that was in the possession of a Jew during Pesach is forbidden for consumption by any Jew, even after Pesach. ■

Compassion Beyond Words

My wife and I were about to welcome our first child when we took a trip to Israel, but complications arose and we found ourselves at Laniado Hospital. Our baby was born and taken straight to the NICU, turning our quick visit into a two-month stay. Through all the uncertainty, one thing never wavered: the hospital staff's compassion. It was so real, so steady, so human... the kind of care words couldn't possibly capture.

-Moshe Seidenfeld, Boro Park

At Laniado Hospital in Netanya, Israel, recovery relies as much on compassion as it does on expertise. Staff devote themselves fully to every patient, because saving lives, and welcoming new ones, depends on it.

RABBI
MENACHEM GENACK:
A 45 YEAR
LEGACY
BUILDING OU KOSHER

By Rabbi Nachum Rabinowitz

Institutions do not become great merely by growing large. They become great by earning trust — slowly, patiently, and faithfully — across generations. Few contemporary Jewish builders and leaders embody this truth more fully than Rabbi Menachem Genack, whose 45 years at the helm of OU Kosher transformed a relatively modest certification program into the most trusted kashrus organization in the world.

From Modest Beginnings to Global Reach

In 1980, the Kashrus Division of the Orthodox Union certified approximately 300 companies. Its portfolio included a handful of major names — Heinz and Procter & Gamble amongst them — but the operation itself was small, lean, and largely decentralized.

The OU Kashrus Division was founded in 1924 and certified Heinz Vegetarian Beans, the first nationally distributed kosher product in the United States. At the time, American kashrus was fragmented and unreliable, often administered privately, inconsistently, and with insufficient oversight. The OU was established as a nonprofit communal response — committed to integrity, transparency, and uniform standards, and determined to make reliable kosher food accessible at reasonable cost.

Its rabbinic leadership over the decades included legendary figures such as Rabbi Alexander Rosenberg, Rabbi Beryl Wein, and Rabbi Yaakov Lipschutz. Yet by 1980, the organization still relied heavily on local rabbis for supervision, with minimal centralized infrastructure and just a single full-time employee at its New York headquarters.

Recognizing both the opportunity and the responsibility of the moment, OU lay leaders Rabbi Julius Berman and Shimon Kwestel sought a new direction. They turned to Rabbi Menachem Genack, a close talmid of Rav Yosef Ber Soloveitchik and then rosh kollel at Touro College, and appointed him Rabbinic Administrator and CEO of OU Kosher.

Under the visionary leadership of Rabbi Menachem Genack, OU Kosher was transformed into the world's leading kashrus agency, certifying millions of products manufactured in nearly 15,000 production sites in more than 100 countries.

OU Kosher was established with noble intentions as a nonprofit communal organization, committed to integrity and transparency in providing reliably kosher products at reasonable prices to the broad kosher market

Through the Years

1980's

Laying Foundations

Rabbi Genack understood that trust is built not only on ideals, but on systems. Together with Julius Berman, longtime chair of the Joint Kashrus Commission, he began laying the professional and moral infrastructure for OU Kosher's future.

A new cohort of rabbinical coordinators (RCs) was recruited — talmidei chachamim and yirei shamayim who were also capable administrators. Drawn from a wide range of yeshivot and communities, they represented an unprecedented professionalization of kashrus supervision. For the first time, kashrus was centrally administered by a knowledgeable, cohesive team operating from OU headquarters.

Concurrently, Rabbi Genack charted a new course in field supervision. Rather than relying primarily on local pulpit rabbis, OU Kosher began employing full-time mashgichim — specialists who developed deep expertise in food production and halachic application, and who visited hundreds of facilities.

Halachic integrity remained paramount. In consultation with the RCA's Rabbinical Kashrus Commission, Rabbi Genack served as the primary halachic decisor, while also appointing Rav Hershel Schachter, Rosh Yeshiva at REITS, and Rav Yisroel Belsky, ר"ח Rosh Yeshiva at Torah Vodaath, as halachic consultants. Their inclusion broadened consensus, strengthened consistency, and enhanced transparency.

Growth followed — in staff, in companies, and in global recognition. Yet Rabbi Genack never lost sight of a teaching he received from Rav Soloveitchik: the OU must never become a monopoly. True leadership, he believed, strengthens others. As OU Kosher grew, so too did local vaadim and other kashrus agencies, many inspired by the OU's standards and systems.

In 1987, Rabbi Genack recruited a gifted young talmid chacham, Rabbi Moshe Elefant, whose rise through the ranks would culminate in a lasting partnership as COO of OU Kosher.

By the end of the decade, OU Kosher-certified brands included household names like Pepperidge Farm, General Mills, Pillsbury, and Nestlé.

The 1990s:

Growth with Responsibility

Expansion brings complexity. The 1990s required careful stewardship of a rapidly growing enterprise. Group leaders were appointed to oversee RCs, while senior rabbinic field representatives supervised mashgichim across continents.

Paper systems gave way to technology. OU Kosher developed custom software to manage inspections, ingredient approvals, certification data, and compliance monitoring — laying the groundwork for modern kashrus administration.

Transparency, a core value for Rabbi Genack, found expression in education. ASK OU was founded to train kashrus professionals and to educate communities, empowering consumers to understand, and therefore demand, higher standards of kashrus.

The Annual OU Kashrus Conference further strengthened professional culture, bringing together hundreds of mashgichim, rabbanim, poskim, and industry experts to share knowledge and confront emerging challenges together.

OU Kosher-certified products of the era included Coca-Cola, Frito-Lay, Oreos, Hershey's, and Häagen-Dazs.

The 2000s:

Technology and Resilience

During the tragic events of September 11, 2001, OU Kosher headquarters, located near Ground Zero, were inaccessible for weeks. Critical systems were suddenly out of reach.

Out of crisis came transformation. OU Kosher developed parallel servers and remote-work capabilities that would later prove invaluable during Hurricane Katrina and beyond. Technology was no longer ancillary — it became central.

The launch of OUDirect, incorporating the Universal Kashrus Database with millions of approved ingredients, made OU Kosher the world's most comprehensive kashrus resource for professionals and clients alike.

Rabbi Genack never hesitated to invest in tools that enhanced reliability, accountability, and service.

OU Kosher-certified brands of the era included Mars, Kraft, and Gatorade.

The 2010s:

A Cultural Icon

Rav Soloveitchik once observed that the OU symbol is a testament to the vibrancy of American Jewish life. Under Rabbi Genack's leadership, it also became a broadly recognized cultural marker.

For kosher consumers, it meant trust. Beyond traditional kosher customers, for others, it signified quality, allergen awareness, or dietary transparency. Muslims sought kosher meat when halal was unavailable. Gluten-free consumers looked for OU-P. In all 50 states, reliable kosher food became readily accessible — fulfilling the OU's founding mission.

OU Kosher-certified brands of the era included Jelly Belly, Tic Tac, Impossible Burger, Post, and more.

The 2020s:

Leadership in Crisis

COVID-19 tested institutions worldwide. OU Kosher remained operational, even assisting other kashrus agencies unable to function under severe travel restrictions. Its global staffing model proved invaluable. Because OU Kosher had staff stationed internationally, it was able to continue functioning even when others were not.

The human toll was real. Some mashgichim were stranded overseas, hospitalized far from home, or isolated over Yom Tov. Rabbi Genack personally ensured that no employee faced crisis alone, mobilizing care, advocacy, and support without hesitation.

Even as the organization reached historic scale, Rabbi Genack never lost sight of individuals — their dignity, safety, and wellbeing. When emergencies arose, he made himself available around-the-clock to address every situation.

OU Kosher-certified brands of the era included Kellogg's and Chobani.

Rav, Scholar, Statesman – and a Humble Giant

Rabbi Genack's leadership extends far beyond kashrus.

Torah Scholar

Since 1985, he has served as Rav of Congregation Shomrei Emunah in Englewood, New Jersey, and has played a central role in the Rabbinical Council of Bergen County. A lifelong educator, he has taught Rabbinical students at Yeshiva University and Touro University for decades, and most recently founded the Bergen County Community Kollel.

A close talmid of Rav Yosef Ber Soloveitchik from the age of 17, Rabbi Genack is among the Rav's foremost talmidim. He has edited nearly 50 volumes of the Rav's Torah and authored six volumes of his own original Torah thought.

Through OU Press, which he founded, hundreds of works of Jewish scholarship have reached a global audience.

Public Advocate for Jewish Causes

Having learned in his youth about the failed Wagner-Rodgers Bill of 1939, which would have allowed 20,000 German refugee children to enter the U.S. outside existing immigration quotas, Rabbi Genack firmly believed in public advocacy to promote Jewish causes.

Rabbi Genack founded NORPAC in 1994, championing bipartisan support for Israel and Jewish causes. His friendships with leaders such as President Bill Clinton and Senator Joe Lieberman, z"l, yielded unique works of dialogue and reflection, including Letters to President Clinton and The Gift of Rest. Rabbi Genack is beloved by a wide range of public officials and has been asked to deliver numerous invocations and benedictions at significant official events.

While Israel and communal Jewish interests were the primary focus of Rabbi Genack's advocacy, he has also intervened quietly but decisively on behalf of individuals in need.

Modest Benevolence

Yet for all his accomplishments, Rabbi Genack remains deeply modest. He helps without publicity, listens without judgment, and acts without hesitation. He believes not only in ideas, but in people, not only in institutions, but in individuals.

As the Zohar teaches: "The one who is truly small is the one who is truly great."

In Rabbi Menachem Genack, that teaching has found enduring expression. ■

Moving OU Kosher Forward:

A Conversation with OU Kosher COO Rabbi Moshe Elefant

You have worked alongside Rabbi Menachem Genack for thirty-seven years. How would you describe that relationship?

Rabbi Genack has been both mentor and partner to me. With the exception of Shabbos and Yom Tov, we speak multiple times each day. There is scarcely a significant deliberation or decision at OU Kosher that is made without our consulting one another. Beyond the professional collaboration, Rabbi Genack has been a true friend—one who has prepared me for this transition in ways too numerous to articulate.

What challenges do you foresee for OU Kosher in the years ahead?

None of us could have anticipated the turbulence of recent years, certainly we cannot predict what lies ahead. Ultimately, we are in the hands of Heaven. Still, there are indicators we cannot afford to ignore.

The global market expansion of recent decades may be entering a period of transition. While we have not yet seen dramatic shifts, current tariff policies have the potential to reshape international trade relationships. OU Kosher must remain agile and prepared to respond as some markets contract and others emerge.

Government guidance and consumer preferences are increasingly moving away from artificial additives toward natural alternatives. This has significant kosher implications. Certain natural colors, for example, can be halachically sensitive and may affect the kosher status of finished products. In many instances, solutions can be found—through substitutions, revised formulations, or newly developed processes—but these changes demand vigilance and creativity.

We must also confront the troubling rise of open antisemitism in many parts of the world. The safety of our mashgichim, who travel extensively across continents, is our foremost concern. There are also marketing sensitivities for widely distributed products with Jewish associations. In this regard, the OU symbol offers companies a way to communicate kosher certification without making explicit religious statements on packaging.

Kashrus has always evolved in response to changing realities, and with Siyata diShmaya (Heavenly assistance), I am confident it will continue to do so.

What opportunities do you see for OU Kosher going forward?

The United States and Israel remain the central consumer markets for kosher products. Notably, food manufacture in Israel has been declining, replaced by increased importation of kosher goods. OU Kosher is well positioned to play a significant role in both markets, as well as globally.

Biotechnology is reshaping the food industry. Innovations such as cultivated or “clean” meat are moving steadily from concept to reality. For years, OU Kosher has been working with developers in this space to help pave the way for these products’ eventual entry into —and acceptance within — the kosher marketplace.

Do you anticipate continuing your predecessor’s policies, or introducing new initiatives?

Rabbi Genack introduced many transformative initiatives over the course of his tenure, and I was privileged to participate in a great number of them. Our intention is to honor and extend that legacy — continuing to introduce new initiatives where appropriate, while refining and strengthening existing programs.

We are currently conducting a comprehensive review of OU Kosher requirements and policies across industries, with the goal of standardizing and unifying procedures. This process includes revisiting assumptions made in the past and testing their validity in today’s realities.

OU Kosher remains at the forefront of kashrus technology. At the same time, we are investing in the development of robust dashboards and workflows to ensure that our operations are as effective and efficient as possible. We are also embracing AI-based tools to introduce new capabilities and significantly shorten development timelines.

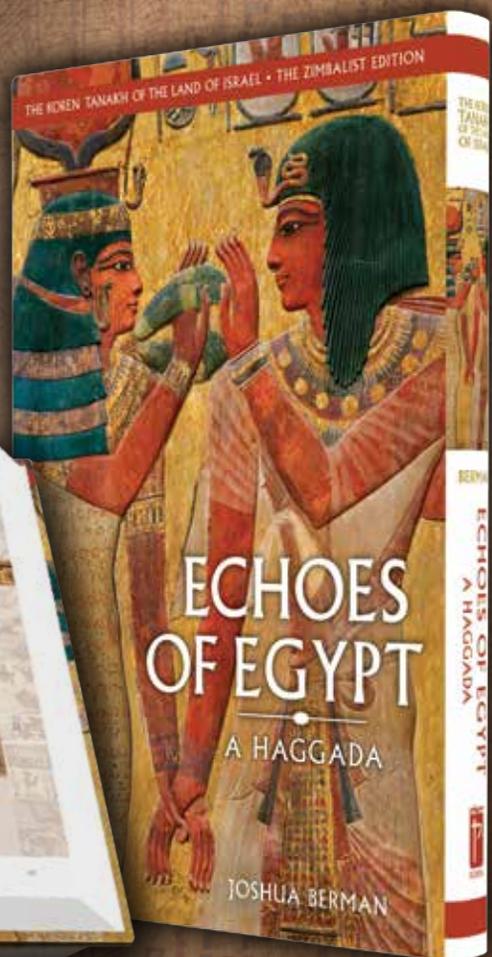

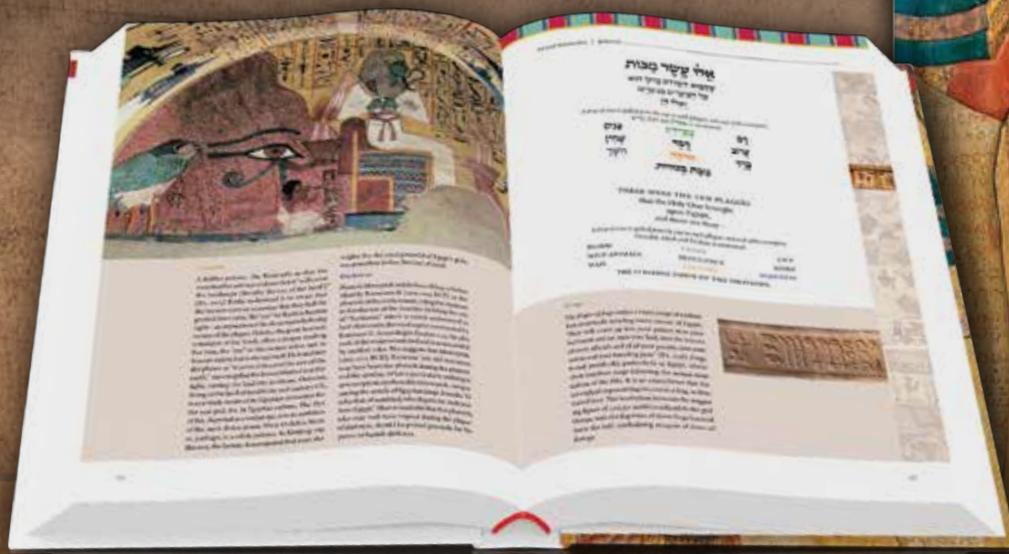

In addition, we are expanding kashrus education on three fronts: training OU’s professional staff in halachic principles and technical realities; educating relevant client personnel in kosher procedures and requirements; and reaching out to yeshivos, kollelim, and Jewish communities, to raise awareness of kashrus issues. A key component of this effort is strengthening our relationships with community rabbanim — inviting them into a deeper understanding of OU Kosher’s inner workings, listening to their feedback, and responding thoughtfully to their questions and needs.

Rabbi Genack now enters a well-deserved retirement after nearly half a century of extraordinary achievement. He leaves OU Kosher with a strong and promising future, and I am certain he will remain closely connected to our work in the years ahead. ■

SHABBATTO

THE MOST ADVANCED FOLDING MOBILITY SCOOTER IN THE WORLD

SHABBATTO is a premium foldable mobility scooter approved for use on Shabbat and Jewish holidays.

STAR-K

Approved for Shabbat and Chagim for individuals who require the use of a mobility scooter due to mobility issues.

Who can use this scooter on Shabbos and Chagim?

The scooter may be used only by one who is designated to be a choleh, in that he or she is unable to engage in normal Shabbos activities due to mobility issues. An Orthodox Rabbi must be consulted to decide whether a particular person meets that criteria.

Can the scooter be used on Shabbos and Chagim in a public domain that does not have an eruv?

No. It can be used on Shabbos only where there is a kosher eruv.

Can the scooter be used in any community?

No. Poskim of some communities may feel that it is inappropriate for a choleh to use a scooter on Shabbos, or they may take issue with the halachic argument permitting its use. Therefore, the scooter may be driven on Shabbos only in communities in which the poskim condone its use, and driven to shul only if the rabbi permits.

What makes SHABBATTO so unique?

- Splits into 2 lightweight parts for easy transport
- Fits in any car trunk, flight-approved for travel
- Self-installed Mehudar Shabbat mechanism included (no external installation needed)
- Take your grandkids or kids to amusement parks and Chol Hamoed activities without worrying about getting tired or getting around
- Join your family at any Pesach program without holding them back from enjoying every moment of Yom Tov
- Travel freely between family for different parts of Pesach, knowing your SHABBATTO folds easily into your car trunk and is FAA-approved for flights
- Additional kashrut details and halachic documentation available upon request.

Yoshon: An Ancient Halacha

WITH MODERN
APPLICATIONS

By Aviva Engel with
Rabbi Mordechai Stareshesfsky and Rabbi Eli Eleff

As many are familiar, yoshon is a mitzvah d'Oraysa, rooted in Parshas Vayikra (perek כ"ג, pasuk ד"י):

וְלֶחֶם וְקָלִי וּבֶרֶמֶל לֹא תֹאכְלוּ, עַד-עֲצָם הַיּוֹם הַזֶּה--עַד
הַבִּיאֲכֶם, אֶת-קִרְבַּן אֱלֹהֵיכֶם: חֻקַּת עוֹלָם לְדֹרֹתֵיכֶם, בְּכֹל מִשְׁבְּתֵיכֶם

Bread, parched grain, or tender grain you shall not eat until this very day, until you bring the offering of your G-d; it is an everlasting statute for all your generations in all your dwelling places.

Until the mid-1970s, chodosh (new grain) was largely a non-issue in the United States, as the country had large surpluses of wheat. Since wheat becomes yoshon once Pesach has passed, and the wheat was being stored in grain elevators at that time, the U.S. crop was yoshon. In 1974, the Jackson–Vanik Amendment was enacted to pressure the Soviet Union to permit Jewish emigration – tying the loosening of trade barriers to emigration. As emigration restrictions eased, trade barriers were lifted, allowing large-scale exports of wheat to the Soviet Union and later China as well. The legislation had an unintended halachic impact: as exports grew, the surplus disappeared; wheat now reached the market soon after it was harvested, and chodosh became an issue.

OU Kosher Chief Executive Officer Rabbi Menachem Genack notes that Rav Ahron Soloveitchik zt”l was highly stringent about keeping yoshon. “It is largely due to him that awareness of yoshon spread.”

As yoshon awareness and certification grew, so did the need for clear guidance on which products were permissible. Rabbi Yosef Herman, zt"l, of Monsey, New York, stepped into that role, devoting decades to making yoshon observance accessible to the broader community. For more than 40 years, he tirelessly researched yoshon products across the U.S., compiling his findings into an annual guide relied upon by consumers nationwide.

“Rabbi Herman worked very closely with OU Kosher Rabbinic Coordinator and yoshon expert Rabbi Dovid Gorelik,” reflects OU Kosher Rabbinic Coordinator Rabbi Stareshfsky. “He would ask companies detailed questions about their grain sourcing and production. Because of him, people who were makpid on yoshon suddenly had access to a wide variety of foods. He knew how to interpret every code and date on products containing grain to determine whether they were yoshon.”

It was in Rabbi Herman’s zechus that Shmuel Stefansky became one of the first business leaders in America to introduce yoshon into his product line. The CEO of the Brooklyn-based Dagim fish company has warm memories of learning the mishnayos and halachos related to the Korban HaOmer and yoshon with his father, Yitzchok, z"l, on the second day of Pesach each year.

In 1986, Rabbi Yosef Herman called Stefansky and asked which of Dagim’s products were yoshon.

“At the time, awareness of yoshon was limited, and few manufacturers truly understood what it involved,” Stefansky recalls. “Our only wheat-based item then was breaded fish, and Rabbi Herman explained the requirements and process of yoshon. I reached out to Rabbi Elimelech Friedman, the OU mashgiach at our supplier, and he helped put a system in place to ensure only yoshon flour was used. Since then, we’ve been makpid to use yoshon in all of our flour-based products, and that commitment has remained a point of pride for us.”

Of Dagim’s nearly 70 products, between 40 and 50 contain flour, including pizza bagels, pizza, and breaded fish and eggplant. The company’s pretzels are the only items that are sometimes chodosh, but Stefansky says those, too, will soon be yoshon year-round, with updated packaging to reflect the change.

“Yoshon products are in high demand and we’re committed to customer satisfaction,” Stefansky says. “It costs nothing to make yoshon flour, so it’s a no-brainer. Or, as Rabbi Gorelik says, a no-grainer.”

Since Dagim’s founding in 1957 by Stefansky’s grandfather, Leo, z"l, the company has maintained close ties with its certifier, OU Kosher.

“We have partnered with OU Kosher for decades and are excited about the new Yoshon Quick Search tool, which is especially helpful for consumers,” Stefansky says.

Nearly 1,500 miles and a time zone away from Brooklyn, another OU Kosher-certified company in Hudson, Kansas, has been serving yoshon consumers for the past 25 years. Founded in 1906, Stafford County Flour Mill Co. produces all-purpose, high-gluten, and whole wheat flour under the Kemach name, and holds the unique position of being the only flour mill in America that solely mills locally grown wheat and stores it onsite from harvest to milling.

“It’s all hard red winter wheat,” explains Food Safety and Production Manager Randy Watson, who has been with the company for 40 years and oversees its yoshon processes. “Winter wheat is planted in October and remains dormant throughout the winter. It’s harvested after Pesach, so it’s naturally yoshon.”

Stafford County Flour Mill Co. entered the yoshon market in the early 1980s, when it was approached by a flour company seeking yoshon flour for its customers in New York and surrounding areas.

“For 120 years, we’ve grown by offering specialty products, so we agreed to do it,” says Watson. “I didn’t know what the yoshon symbol looked like or what it meant. The first time a rabbi came by, he explained it to me and gave me an article about it. Once I understood its importance, it became important to me, too.”

Through that relationship, Stafford County Flour Mill Co. was later approached by a New York bakery producing brownies for Ben & Jerry’s ice cream in Israel. Because all imported grain products in Israel must be yoshon, the bakery required yoshon flour.

MANISCHEWITZ

“SUGGESTIONS”
SINCE 1888

“Between those two companies, we probably produce about two to three semi-truckloads of yoshon weekly — anywhere from 42,000 to 50,000 pounds of flour,” Watson estimates. “We’ve respected Jewish laws and customs, and it’s worked very well for us.”

To ensure consistent yoshon status, Stafford County Flour Mill Co. sources ingredients well in advance. As Watson explains, quality flour begins with quality wheat. Wheat naturally contains an enzyme called amylase, which enhances baking quality by bonding protein and starch.

“We tend to add a bit more amylase,” he says. “Malted barley is rich in this enzyme, but barley isn’t naturally yoshon because it’s planted in the spring. So we buy it early and keep it in cold storage, with enough to last well past Pesach, ensuring we’re always using old-crop barley. We do the same with wheat starch, which we add as an enrichment.”

For Watson, working with OU Kosher has been a positive experience marked by camaraderie and mutual respect.

“I’ve had so much fun learning from, and teaching, the OU Kosher rabbis who have come here over the years,” he says. “They’re easy to get along with and a lot of fun. Our current OU Rabbinic Field Representative Rabbi Shraga Kaufman, and I, have a good time and we talk about our kids.”

Watson also gives tours of the plant, and says one highlight for students and larger groups is his explanation of the yoshon symbol and its significance.

“When I give a tour, I always pull out a $100 bill, show them the yoshon symbol, and say, ‘If anyone can tell me what this says, what language it’s in, and what it means, you’ll win this.’ If people come from a larger town, I ask whether anyone in the group is Jewish, and if the answer is ‘yes,’ I pull out a smaller bill. But no one has ever won the money! It’s been great to explain yoshon to them, and also to show that we do this out of respect for other people’s customs and religious laws, which I believe is very important.”

Watson is glad that Stafford County Flour Mill Co. is included in OU Kosher’s Yoshon Quick Search database.

“We’re proud to be part of a community that serves yoshon consumers,” he says. “The new search tool is a useful resource, even for companies like ours, because it helps us find potential suppliers. It’s a win-win, with everyone helping everyone else.”

For those who are makpid on yoshon, a quick supermarket run can easily turn into a full-blown scavenger hunt, with brand-checking and label-decoding to ensure products meet yoshon criteria. OU Kosher, the world’s largest kosher and yoshon certifier, has now simplified grocery shopping with a searchable database of more than 5,000 yoshon products, making the observance of this mitzvah more accessible than ever.

Available at ou.kosher.org/yoshon and on the OU Kosher app, the Yoshon Quick Search database allows users to search by brand or category, whether they are preparing a shopping list at home or checking an item on the go.

“As the community that is makpid on yoshon continues to grow, OU Kosher is there to support them and to respond to communal needs,” says OU Kosher Chief Operating Officer Rabbi Moshe Elefant.

OU Kosher mashgichim monitor factories that manufacture products made from barley, rye, oats, wheat, and spelt to determine when grain from the new harvest is first used. From that date forward, all products produced at that facility are considered chodosh. As a result, whether a product is yoshon or chodosh depends on the production date or the “best by” date code printed on its packaging.

Rabbi Stareshesky, who spearheaded the Yoshon Quick Search project, explains: “The new tool tells consumers whether a product is yoshon year-round or only up to a specific date. It also explains how to read the product’s date code, whether it’s a four-digit production code or a ‘best by’ date. Each brand uses its own system, but every product includes a date code.”

OU Kosher Managing Director of Marketing and Community Relations Rabbi Eli Eleff says that OU Kosher is always looking for ways to innovate and assist people, especially when it comes to information that isn’t always readily available.

“This new tool advances our mission to help Klal Yisrael keep kashrus at the highest standards, while empowering consumers to make informed decisions around yoshon.” ■

Understanding the Not-So-Simple Matzah

By Rabbi Yissachar Dov Krakowski

The Pesach holiday is also known by its biblical name, Chag HaMatzos, demonstrating the centrality of this food to the festival. Many associate matzah exclusively with the thin and brittle cracker-like flat bread consumed on Pesach. Many understand that matzah is unleavened bread. None of this, however, explains all the varieties of matzah available on the market. From shmura to 18-minute matzah, and round to square machine-made matzah, what really is the difference? Add in Yeminite soft matza and egg matza to the mix, and the options become even more complex. We will attempt to clarify the distinctions of each.

The Basic Matzah

The Torah states that on Pesach we may not eat leavened bread, rather only matzah. The basic definition of matzah is bread that has not risen. Most bread is comprised of multiple ingredients. The two ingredients that all breads have in common are flour and water. Normally, one adds a leavening agent like yeast or sourdough to the flour-water mixture, to hasten rising. However, even flour and water without any added ingredients will rise after some time, via naturally occurring yeast (bacteria). Chazal determined that 18 minutes constitutes the amount of time for water and flour to rise on their own. Consequently, the timing between the mixing of the flour and water until matzah is fully baked cannot exceed 18 minutes.

This time limit does not require matzah to emerge thin and brittle. Thus, from a very basic perspective, one could theoretically prepare a very plain pita, baked within that time span, and it wouldn't constitute chametz. In fact, the only size restriction mentioned by the Gemara is the maximum height for matzah -- less than one tefach (approximately four inches). Nevertheless, the pita could still become chametz, if it is not fully dry and contains unbaked flour within. Folds in matzah dough can also potentially create raw pockets. It is for this reason that matzah has customarily been made cracker thin, to ensure that it is entirely baked through. Ashkenazi Jews universally use very thin, dry and brittle matzot. (Some Jewish communities sanction the use of soft flat bread.)

The concern of unbaked flour parts in matzah is also what has led to the custom (particularly in Hasidic communities) to not consume gebrokts, or wet matzot.

This practice ensures that if somehow, some flour remained unbaked and was inadvertently mixed with water, it would not become chametz. Those who eat gebrokts presume all the flour was baked, thus alleviating any worry.

There is one more basic criterion: As mentioned earlier, Chazal determined the maximum time before simple flour and water becomes chametz is 18 minutes. This time allowance is given if the dough mixture strictly contains these two ingredients. Other added ingredients may hasten the dough to rise, which could even happen immediately. As such, matzot must be made from flour and water alone.

The 18-minute clock starts the moment flour and water meet. The flour used for matzah must be sourced from a dry grinding. Wheat is often tempered with water prior to being ground, to help separate the different parts of the kernel. It is therefore essential to use flour that has not been tempered.

All bread, not just matzo, is only considered bread, according to halacha, if it is made from the following five grains: wheat, barley, spelt, rye and oats. It should be noted that in order for a mixture to be rendered chametz, it must contain one of these five types of grain.

The 18-minute period also assumes

GOOSE BAY™

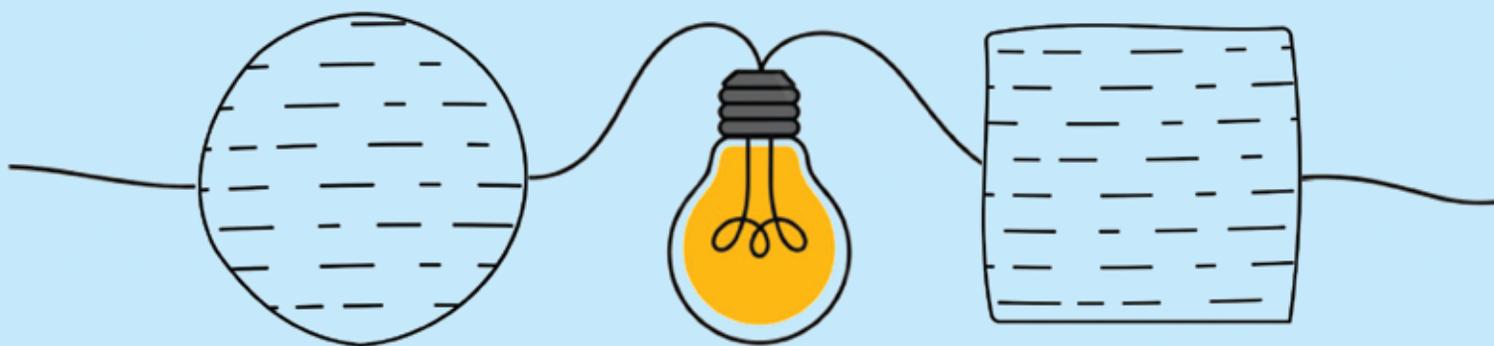

Each bottle holds a moment — sun slipping behind a hill, the hush of vines in the wind, the stillness before dusk. Goose Bay Pinot Grigio is the taste of that moment made real: soft, bright, and utterly transpōitive.

“We don’t just bottle wine—we bottle the land, the light, and the spirit of New Zealand. Every vintage is a promise to stay authentic, stay curious, and let nature lead.”

—Matthew Rutherford,
WINEMAKER, GOOSE BAY

that the mixture isn't exposed to heat prior to being baked, which could hasten its leavening. Accordingly, flour needs to be stored in a cool, dark space. Likewise, the water should be poured and stored overnight to ensure that it is cooled down; this is referred to as Mayim Shelanu.

Why Shmura? For the matzot eaten on Seder night, the Torah specifically states, “ושמרתם את המצות,” you should guard the matzot.” Chazal understand the Torah's extra emphasis as an obligation to guard not just the processing of the matzot, but also supervision of the flour; hence shmura matzah. There are two approaches amongst Rishonim (early commentaries) as to when this extra guarding of the flour begins. The Rambam and Rif maintain that one should safeguard the flour from the harvesting of the grain, while Rashi and Rosh argue that it is sufficient to safeguard the flour from the time that it is milled.

Currently, when we refer to matzot as shmura, we generally mean from harvest (which is the higher level of supervision). All OU-Pesach certified matzot are supervised, at least from the time the flour was ground.

One is only obligated to use shmura matzah for the Seder. Non-shmura matzot are 100 percent halachically kosher for the remainder of Pesach. With regard to Pesach particularly, many minhagim (traditions) involve taking on extra chumros (stringencies). Using only shmura matzot for the entire Pesach is one of those. If one's family minhag is to only use shmura matzah on Pesach, one should act accordingly. If, however, one doesn't have such a minhag, one need not start to be machmir (strict) to only use shmura, especially because all matzot nowadays are minimally shmura from the time of grinding.

There is an additional reason why one might wish to strictly eat shmura matzah: the Gra explains that there is a Mitzva Kiyumis (a voluntary/conditional mitzvah) in eating matzah all seven days of Pesach, according to the verse, “Seven days you shall eat matzot.” It may therefore be that all matzot we eat on Pesach (as matzah – i.e. not as matzah/cake meal) have the status of the Matzot Mitzva and therefore should also require an excessive shmira (safeguard). If one chooses to exclusively eat shmura for this reason, there is no need to use only shmura matzah when one is using matzah byproducts such as cakes and rolls made from matzah meal.

Eighteen-Minute Matzot

“Eighteen-minute matzot” is a term used to describe machine-made matzah for which the equipment is stopped, partially disassembled, and cleaned every 18 minutes, instead of after an eight-hour shift (or some other time variant).

To understand the idea of 18-minute matzot, we must first understand why this isn't a basic requirement of all matzot. We have already established that Chazal dictated an 18-minute limit from the time of the mixing of the flour and water until it is baked. It would therefore seem necessary to clean the machine from all remnants of dough, and dough build-up, every 18 minutes. However, the Gemara also tells us that one can leave flour mixed with water all day before baking, as long as it is being constantly toiled, (Chazal refer to this as Issuk). This means that as long as the dough is being worked on, it doesn't need to be baked. The moment the dough sits untouched, the clock starts ticking.

The 18-minute requirement is deemed unnecessary for machine-made matzot because the machine is always moving and all the dough is always mixed. There is consequently no risk of any chametz coming into existence.

There is one more detail required for this Talmudic leniency of Issuk, and that is that the dough doesn't become warm from the Issuk. To this end, the machine-made matzah lines that OU certifies are especially designed to operate under completely cool conditions. In fact, despite being industrial, heavy-duty equipment, they stay completely cool to the touch. Additionally, OU requires that the area around the matzah production line be properly ventilated and cooled to the extent that extra air vents cool the conveyer belt both above and below, as it returns from where it meets the oven.

Israel's Emergency Services System

While there is much room to be lenient and to allow the matzah production lines to work for hours straight, those wishing to be more scrupulous consume matzah from lines which were stopped and fully cleaned every 18 minutes – hence the term 18-minute matzah.

It should be noted that OU kosher requires multiple mashgichim (supervisors) on matzah production lines who constantly clean them with vacuums and air guns, ensuring that even non-18-minute-matzah are free of dough build-up.

A Hand-Made Matzah According to many opinions, it is important that matzah being used for the mitzva of eating matzah be made with that specific intention, known as Li'Shma. When workers make matzah by hand, everyone explicitly declares ahead of their shift that all the work they will be doing is “l'shem matzah mitzva” – for the sake of the mitzva of matzah. While the same declaration could be made by the workers who control the production line of machine-made matzah, it is a matter of historical contention as to whether one can convey Li'Shma in reference to a machine. Consequently, some refrain from using machine-made matzah for the Seder. Some also prefer hand-made matzah because the many parts of machine lines allow dough to get stuck in various nooks and crannies.

Hand-made matzah have an element of hiddur (enhancement or beautification) because of their “Lishma” status and individual attention and care.

Rabbi Yisroel Belsky, zt”l, pointed out yet another hiddur in hand-made matzah: machine-made matzah are generally baked in tunnel ovens. The matzah bake as they travel through the tunnel on a steel conveyer belt. While these ovens are constructed so that the matzah fully bake early on in their travel journey, hand-made matzah are generally baked in stone ovens that are heated for prolonged periods of time. As such, the matzah bake practically the instant they hit the oven.

As Pesach is a time when many people follow very particular minhagim regarding what they eat, there are those who will not use machine-made matzah no matter how mehudar (enhanced or beautified) they are, as their ancestors did not use them.

There are still many hidurim that can be done with both machine and hand-made matzah. As a result, there definitely are differences among brands and hashgachos (kosher certifications).

Egg Matzah

Egg matzah, or, in more halachic terms, matzah ashira, are matzah made from a mixture of fruit juice or eggs, and flour. Earlier we noted that only flour from one of the five grains mixed with water can become chametz. The Gemara discusses whether liquids other than water, when mixed with flour, can become chametz. While it does not rule out the possibility that they can become chametz, it states that they are not memaher lehachmitz, meaning they do not cause the dough to rise quickly. Since “not rising quickly” isn’t a precise time limit, we refer back to the 18-minute limit for regular water and flour-based matzah when approaching egg matzah. Additionally, we assume that if more ingredients are added, they can cause the mixture to rise more quickly. Thus, egg matzah must be made from flour and juice or egg alone, and be free of additional ingredients.

Egg matzah must be totally free of water, otherwise the mixture becomes flour and water with an added ingredient of juice or eggs, rendering it chametz very quickly. This is especially challenging as most fruit is washed with water before being juiced, and most industrial production lines are cleaned using water. Therefore, juice or eggs being used for egg matzah need special kosher supervision and certification to guarantee that they are totally water-free. According to the Rama’s ruling, Ashkenazi Jews do not use matzah ashira on Pesach, with the exception of minors and the ill.

Like most areas in industry, new technologies in the realm of matzah manufacturing emerge with time. These technologies present new halachic challenges that require new and innovative solutions. The goal is to harness these technologies to improve matzah’ halachic quality.

With a plethora of matzah options, how does one choose? Pesach is about the transmission of our heritage from generation to generation. Each generation should attempt to maintain the halachically mandated traditions of their family and community. ■

CHAMETZ:

When to Peddle & When to Purge

By Rabbi Gavriel Price

A common method of relinquishing ownership of chametz is to sell it, typically through an agent (a rabbi) to a non-Jew. The chametz remains in the house, in a closed-off area (e.g. a closet) that has been rented to its new owner. After Pesach, the rental period ends and the agent purchases the chametz back on behalf of the original owner.

This option is time-honored and halachically acceptable. Some, however, do not want to rely on such a sale for chametz that, on a Torah level, we are required to remove from our possession.

The Torah prohibition against owning chametz applies not only to obvious chametz such as bread, pretzels or cookies, but to any product that contains a chametz ingredient that constitutes a k'zayit within that product. Licorice, for example, which contains a significant amount of flour in its dough, would not be sold according to this position but should, instead, be eaten before Pesach, burned, or otherwise destroyed. Such products are considered chametz gamur — “real” chametz.

If the food is only safek chametz (that is, there is some doubt as to whether it is chametz at all), it may be included in the sale even according to those individuals who avoid the sale of chametz gamur.

The foods listed in the chart on page 39 are identified either as chametz gamur and, according to the stringent position, should not be included in a sale, or “not chametz gamur,” and may be included in a sale.

Many people who avoid selling chametz gamur nonetheless have a family custom to sell their whiskey. ■

7. Rye flour does not undergo the tempering process that renders standard flour safek chametz.
8. Spelt flour does not undergo the tempering process that renders standard flour safek chametz
9. Flour as an ingredient in processed food is typically exposed to some form of moisture and should be assumed to be chametz.
10. Typically, non-GMO starch and starch derivatives (like maltodextrin) are sourced from Europe, and should be assumed to be chametz.
11. Wheat is used in traditional soy sauce production.
12. Wheat germ is a byproduct of the milling process; see footnote 4.

OU Kosher Raises the Bar on Kashrus Education Nationwide

OU Kosher—the world’s largest and most trusted kosher certification agency—continues to expand its Kashrus Across America initiative, bringing elevated kashrus education to communities nationwide. Through its ASK OU (Advanced Seminars in Kashrus) programs, the initiative now offers more immersive, hands-on learning that delves into the real-world complexities behind kosher certification.

“We’re moving beyond simply presenting information,” says Rabbi Moshe Elefant, OU Kosher’s Chief Operating Officer. “Our goal is to equip consumers, communities, and Rabbanim with practical knowledge they can rely on when making everyday kosher decisions.”

Rabbi Eli Eleff, Managing Director of Community Relations, emphasizes the deeper mission behind the effort: “Kosher observance isn’t just about identifying a symbol on a label. It’s about understanding the care, precision, and expertise that go into upholding the highest standards of kashrus—and helping consumers truly value that process.”

HOW TO MAKE YOUR KITCHEN KOSHER-FOR-PESACH, EVEN IF YOU'RE NOT A RABBI

By Rabbi Eli Gersten

SAFETY WARNING:
Kashering Involves High Heat!

One of the most daunting preparations we make for Pesach is kashering, a process to prepare chametz utensils for Pesach use. As with all areas of halachah, those who are unsure of how to apply the rules of kashering to their situation should consult an Orthodox rabbi.

The Torah (Bamidbar 31:23) requires kashering utensils acquired from a non-Jew, as they are presumed to have been used in non-kosher cooking (and will have absorbed non-kosher flavor). Since chametz on Pesach is also forbidden, the Talmud applies the laws of kashering to chametz as well. There are four basic methods of kashering. The prescribed method depends on the utensil and how it was used.

LIBUN GAMUR (BURNING)

Utensils used directly in the fire (e.g. BBQ grate), must be kashered by placing them into fire. This process has the effect of burning away any absorbed taste. To qualify as a complete libun, metal must be heated until it glows. A self-clean cycle of an oven (approx. 850°F) also qualifies as libun. There is no need to wait 24 hours before libun, though it is advised. There is no need to scrub the utensil before performing libun, since the fire will burn off residue, but some cleaning is advised.

HAGALAH (BOILING)

Utensils that were used to cook non-kosher liquid can be kashered with hagalah (boiling in water). To prepare the utensil for hagalah, the utensil must be thoroughly cleaned. Only utensils that can be scrubbed clean should be kashered. Items that have narrow cracks, crevices, deep scratches or other areas that cannot be cleaned, cannot be kashered for Pesach. The following, for example, cannot be kashered for Pesach: pots with rolled lips, bottles with narrow necks, filters, colanders, knives (or other utensils) where food can get trapped between the blade and handle. After cleaning, the utensils should then be left idle for 24 hours. To kasher, every part of the utensil must make contact with boiling water. This process can be done in parts. For example, a large spoon can be immersed into a pot of boiling water for 10 seconds, turned over and then the remainder immersed. When the utensil is removed from the boiling water, it should be rinsed off in cold water. While strictly speaking these utensils may be kashered in a clean non-Pesach pot that was not used for 24 hours, the minhag, however, is to kasher the pot first, by boiling water in the pot and discarding.

IRUY KLI RISHON (POURED BOILING WATER)

If the utensil only came in contact with hot liquid being poured on it (iruy), it can be kashered in the same manner. If the utensil came in contact with hot chametz solids, then one should kasher by pouring boiling water accompanied by an even melubenet, a heated stone. For example, if hot pasta fell into a sink, stones should be heated on the stove, and moved around the surface of the sink while boiling water is poured over them. In this way, the water will remain boiling on the surface of the sink. The stones may need to be reheated several times, since they cool down quickly. In all other aspects the process is identical to hagalah.

LIBUN KAL (LIGHT BURNING)

In certain cases, libun kal is sufficient. This can be accomplished by heating in an oven at 550° F for one hour. This method of kashering can be used in place of hagalah. It is also used when the need for libun is only an added stringency.

NOT EVERY MATERIAL CAN BE KASHERED.

Ceramic, such as china, and enamel coated pots cannot be kashered. It is the custom of Ashkenazim not to kasher glass as well. Some poskim do not permit kashering plastic or other synthetic materials for Pesach; however, the opinion of the OU rabbanim is that it may be kashered, if there is a need. Ask your rabbi for guidance. Composite stone (e.g. quartz counters) which is made mostly of stone, but is held together with resin, can be kashered. As a rule, materials such as metal, wood, stone, natural rubber, and fabric can be kashered. ■

DID YOU KNOW?SOME HELPFUL TIPS:

It is recommended that one not wait until erev yom tov to run the self-cleaning cycle to kasher an oven, as this is known to be hard on the oven and repairs may be required.

Some newer self-cleaning ovens employ Aqualift technology that cleans at low heat; they should be considered like non-self-cleaning ovens (see The Modern Kitchen on page 48 for details).

Please note that kashering may discolor oven racks and stovetop burners. If racks have rubber wheels, the wheels may melt. Replacement racks for Pesach should be ordered well in advance of the holiday.

KASHERING CHECKLIST:LIBUN GAMUR

- Surface must be heated to a dry temperature of approximately 850°F (i.e. self-cleaning oven) or until it begins to glow.

HAGALAH

- Surface should be completely cleaned with hot water and unused for 24 hours.
- Surface should be completely clean and dry.
- The utensil should be completely submerged in a pot of boiling water.
- Cold water should be poured over surface.

IRUY KLI RISHON

- Surface should be completely cleaned with hot water and unused for 24 hours.
- Surface should be completely clean and dry.
- Boiling water should be poured directly over all surfaces followed by cold water poured over the entire surface.

LIBUN KAL

- Surface should be completely cleaned with hot water and unused for 24 hours.
- Surface should be completely clean and dry.
- Surface should be heated to a dry temperature of 550° F (i.e. oven) for a minimum of one hour.

THE MODERN KITCHEN

GLOSSARY OF TERMS:

LIBUN GAMUR - Burning
HAGALAH - Boiling
IRUY KLI RISHON - Poured Boiling Water
EVEN MELUBENET - Heated Stone

See pages 46 and 47 for details on these processes.

1 REFRIGERATORS, FREEZERS, FOOD SHELVES & PANTRIES CLEAN & COVER

These areas should be thoroughly cleaned, paying special attention to the edges where crumbs may get trapped. The surfaces should be lined with paper or plastic.

Note: Refrigerators and freezers will operate more efficiently if holes are poked in the lining to allow air flow.

2 DISHWASHERS HAGALAH

(boiling in water) Kashering of dishwashers is a complicated process and should only be done in consultation with a halachic authority.

7 SELF-CLEANING OVENS

LIBUN (burning) Remove any visible food. Complete self-cleaning cycle with racks in place.

NON-SELF-CLEANING OVEN

LIBUN (burning) Clean all surfaces (walls, floor, doors and racks) thoroughly with a caustic cleanser (e.g. Easy Off). Pay special attention to thermostat, oven window, and edges of the oven chamber. Black discoloration that is flush with the metal need not be removed. Oven should not be used for 24 hours. Place racks in the oven and turn the oven to broil (highest heat) for 60 minutes. A broiler pan that comes in direct contact with food should not be used.

Note: The method of kashering described above is based on the ruling of Rav Aharon Kotler zt'l. However, Rav Moshe Feinstein zt'l ruled that the oven must either be kashered with a blow torch, or an insert should be placed in the oven. Consult your rabbi for guidance.

8 WARMING DRAWERS LIBUN (burning)

Typically warming drawers do not get to libun kal temperature. Therefore, unless one is experienced in kashering with a torch, warming drawers are not recommended for use on Pesach.

9 MICROWAVES HAGALAH (boiling in water)

(for those who kasher plastic) The microwave must be cleaned well and not used for 24 hours. Glass turntable should be removed and replaced with new kosher-for-Pesach surface. A styrofoam cup should be filled with water and boiled in the microwave for 10 minutes. The cup should be refilled and moved to another spot and the process repeated for 10 more minutes. Cardboard or contact paper should be taped over the glass window pane for the duration of Pesach.

10 METAL TEA KETTLE HAGALAH (boiling in water)

The same treatment for pots applies here. Although it is uncommon for anything but water to be put into a tea kettle, nevertheless it must be kashered. Tea kettles often sit on the stove, and it is common for them to get sprayed with hot food.

11 ELECTRIC MIXER NOT RECOMMENDED

Because of the difficulty in cleaning out the housing of the mixer from fine particles of flour, one should not use their year-round mixer on Pesach. The mixer blades, though, can be cleaned and kashered with hagalah.

3 STAINLESS STEEL SINK

IRUY (pouring boiling water)

Remove drain. [It is recommended that the drain be replaced. If this is difficult, it may be used if the drain has large holes that can be completely scrubbed clean]. It is preferable to kasher a sink by pouring boiling water in conjunction with an even melubenet (a heated stone). In lieu of kashering with a heated stone, some will place a rack on the bottom of the sink, or use a sink insert.

CERAMIC SINK CANNOT BE KASHERED AND MUST BE COVERED

The sink should not be used with hot water for 24 hours. The sink should be completely clean and dry. The sink should be covered with layers of contact paper or foil; it is best to purchase a sink insert.

4 THE SINK FAUCET (including instant hot)

IRUY (pouring boiling water) Detach any filters or nozzles.

5 STAINLESS STEEL, GRANITE, COMPOSITE STONE (E.G. QUARTZ) OR FORMICA COUNTERTOPS

IRUY (pouring boiling water) OR COVERING It is preferable to kasher a countertop by pouring boiling water in conjunction with an even melubenet. There are different opinions as to whether formica (or plastic) countertops can be kashered for Pesach.

CERAMIC TILE COUNTERTOPS
CANNOT BE KASHERED & MUST BE COVERED The counter should be covered with a water-resistant covering.

6 GAS STOVETOP

LIBUN (burning) & COVER The stovetop surface and grates should be cleaned well and not used for 24 hours.

The stovetop surface should be covered with foil. The stovetop grates can be replaced or they should be burned out in the oven @ 550° F for one hour.

ELECTRIC STOVETOP

LIBUN (burning) & COVER The stovetop surface should be cleaned well and covered with foil. The burners should be turned on until they glow red.

GLASS STOVETOP

CANNOT BE KASHERED & MUST BE COVERED* The stovetop surface should be cleaned well and not used for 24 hours.

During Pesach, pots should not be placed directly on the stove surface, but rather an aluminum (or other metal) disk should be placed directly under the pot.

The entire glass top surface should not be covered as this might cause it to overheat and crack.*

12 SILVERWARE, POTS & OTHER SMALL ITEMS HAGALAH (boiling in water)

Roller lips, seams or cracks that cannot be cleaned will require torching of those areas. Utensils should be immersed one at a time into a pot of boiling water that is on the fire. Water should be allowed to return to a boil before the next item is placed in the pot. The pot can be non-Pesach, provided it is clean, has not been used for 24 hours, and water is first boiled in the pot and discarded. Larger items can be submerged in the water one part at a time. Utensils should then be rinsed in cold water.

13 KEURIG COFFEE MAKER HAGALAH OR IRUY (pouring boiling water)

(for those who kasher plastic) The coffee maker must be cleaned well and not used for 24 hours. Remove K-cup holder and perform hagalah or iruy on K-cup holder. Run a Kosher-for-Pesach K-cup in the machine (this will kasher the top pin).

14 HOT WATER URN, WATER COOLER IRUY (pouring boiling water)

Urn only used for heating water: Run hot water through the water tap for 10 seconds, while pouring boiling water from a kettle over the water tap.

Urn also used to warm food (e.g. to warm challah): Not recommended. Must be put away for the holiday.

Water Cooler In addition to pouring boiling water over tap, replace water bottle.

15 BABY HIGH CHAIR COVERED

The tray should be covered with contact paper. The seat, legs and bars should be wiped down with a soapy rag.

16 TABLECLOTHS, KITCHEN GLOVES, APRONS & OTHER FABRIC ITEMS

WASH Fabric items can be kashered by washing them with detergent in a washing machine set on "hot." Items should be checked to make sure no pieces of food remain attached.

17 TABLES

COVERED Although wooden tables can be kashered, the common custom is to clean tables well and then cover them.

An Eruv Tavshilin Primer

By Rabbi Moshe Zywica

Q. When does one perform an Eruv Tavshilin?

A. When Yom Tov goes straight into Shabbat, as it does this year, it is forbidden to cook, bake, or prepare on Yom Tov for Shabbat. When executed properly, Eruv Tavshilin creates a symbolic “bridge” permitting preparation for Shabbat. (It does not allow you to cook on one day of the holiday for the following day).

Interestingly, there is no Torah prohibition to cook or bake on Yom Tov for Shabbat, even though one may only cook on Yom Tov for Yom Tov itself. The Gemara (Pesachim 46b) offers two reasons why:

Shabbat and Yom Tov are considered to be one unit since the Torah refers to Yom Tov as Shabbat. Accordingly, just as it is permitted to cook and bake on Yom Tov for Yom Tov, it is permitted to cook and bake on Yom Tov for Shabbat.

When one cooks or bakes additional food on Yom Tov, it is not a Torah violation because it is possible that one will need the food for unexpected guests who might arrive on Yom Tov.

Q. If the Torah permits food preparation on Yom Tov for Shabbat, why did the rabbis institute the practice of Eruv Tavshilin?

A. The Gemara (Beitzah 15b) offers two explanations:

When Yom Tov precedes Shabbat, one is prone to overlook the needs around Shabbat. The rabbis therefore created a special tangible preparation for Shabbat that must be attended to before the start of Yom Tov, so people would remember to cook for Shabbat as well.

If people were simply allowed to cook on Yom Tov for Shabbat without any formal reminder, they might assume that cooking for any day after Yom Tov is generally permitted. This misunderstanding could lead them to extend that reasoning to cooking for regular weekdays after Yom Tov, particularly late in the day. Such behavior is dangerous because cooking late on Yom Tov for a weekday is a Torah prohibition, not merely a rabbinic one. To prevent this confusion and the potential violation of Torah law, the rabbis established the practice of Eruv Tavshilin as a safeguard.

Q. What is the procedure for Eruv Tavshilin?

A. This year, on erev Yom Tov, Wednesday April 1, set aside two types of food: one cooked, and one baked (Mishnah Berurah 527:5-6). If you cannot obtain both items, a cooked item alone is acceptable, but a baked item alone will not suffice. The cooked item must be at least the size of a large olive (approximately half the size of a chicken's egg) and the baked item should be at least the size of a chicken's egg. Since not all cooked foods qualify for Eruv Tavshilin, and the laws are complex, there is a common custom to boil an egg on erev Yom Tov specifically for this purpose. The term “baked item” refers to bread, or a bread-like product. On Pesach, we are limited to using matzah.

Hold the selected items in your hands while reciting the bracha and subsequent Aramaic text, as they appear in the siddur. As it is necessary to understand the text, you should recite it in your native language (Rama 527:12).

Q. How long is the Eruv Tavshilin valid? May I eat the Eruv Tavshilin food?

A. The Eruv Tavshilin allows one to prepare for Shabbat only on Erev Shabbat, but not on a preceding Yom Tov day (Shulchan Aruch 527:13). Additionally, every effort should be made to complete the preparations early enough on Friday afternoon so that the food will be edible well before Shabbat. Nevertheless, if preparations were left until late Friday afternoon, they may still be done (Beur Halacha 527:1).

The food used for the Eruv Tavshilin must remain intact as long as preparations are being made for Shabbat. Perishable items may be stored in the refrigerator as needed. If the Eruv foods were consumed or discarded before Shabbat, the Eruv ceases to be valid (OC 527:15).

It is customary to use the matzah of the Eruv for an additional mitzvah as one of the two loaves of lechem mishnah at each of the three Shabbat meals, and to consume the matzah at the third meal of Seudah Shlishit.

Q. Who Is Included in an Eruv Tavshilin?

A. All individuals who reside in, or are guests at, the home of one who prepared an Eruv Tavshilin are automatically included in that Eruv and may cook and make preparations on Yom Tov for Shabbat. Since the host bears halachic responsibility for providing food for members of the household and for invited guests, all food prepared in honor of Shabbat, including the Eruv Tavshilin itself, is considered to have been prepared on their behalf as well.

However, a neighbor or other individual whom the host doesn't have to feed is not automatically included. If such a person wishes to be included in the Eruv Tavshilin, this must be done before the bracha and declaration are recited. The individual must lift (acquire) the food of the Eruv Tavshilin and have explicit intent to become a partner in that food, thereby joining in the Eruv. (Orach Chaim 527:7–10)

Q. If one intends to be fully prepared for Shabbat before Yom Tov starts, is an Eruv Tavshilin still necessary?

A. Rav Moshe Feinstein, zt"l, understands the opinion of the Magen Avrohom (O.C. 527:1) to be that it is not absolutely necessary to make an Eruv Tavshilin if one is completely ready for Shabbat. Nevertheless, Igros Moshe (Orach Chaim 5:20:26) notes that even when a person is not planning to cook or bake on Yom Tov for Shabbat, an Eruv Tavshilin should be performed as a precaution for an unexpected need. Rav Moshe, zt"l, writes in Orach Chaim (5:37:9), that a bracha should not be recited in such a case.

Q. What should I do if I forgot to perform an Eruv Tavshilin?

A. If you forgot to perform an Eruv Tavshilin, you may rely on the Eruv Tavshilin performed by your city's rabbi, as he customarily includes the entire community in his Eruv. You may rely on this, however, only if your forgetfulness was not due to negligence (Shulchan Oruch ibid). In addition, you may only rely on the rabbi's Eruv one time (MB 527:22). The Kaf Hachaim (527:48) suggests that this limitation of relying on the Rabbi's Eruv only applies to consecutive Yomim Tovim. However, the Chayei Adam (Klal 102:7) questions whether one may rely on the rabbi's communal Eruv a second time, even if they were not consecutive times.

Another option is to have someone who made an Eruv Tavshilin cook for you. In this case, you must transfer ownership of your ingredients to the person who made the Eruv and is allowed to cook. He or she may then proceed to cook, including in your home. (Shulchan Aruch O.C. 527:20). ■

THIS YEAR,
LET YOUR SEDER
TAKE YOU DEEPER

AVAILABLE NOW!

Thousands of readers have described the impact of Rabbi Yakov Danishefsky's bestselling book, Attached. That journey now continues at the Seder table.

For a Haggadah that engages the mind, heart, and soul, The Attached Haggadah challenges you to enter an experience of honest questioning, self-discovery, and a lived encounter with Yetziat Mitzrayim.

MILK SUBSTITUTES -

The following products contain kitniyos and are acceptable for the infirm who need milk alternatives.

BLUE DIAMOND ALMOND BREEZE
 ORIGINAL UNSWEETENED (SHELF STABLE)
 WESTSOY WEST LIFE PLAIN SOY MILK
 CALIFIA FARMS GO COCONUTS COCONUT MILK

PLEASE NOTE THE FOLLOWING POINTS:

- Many of the products contain kitniyot, some as the primary ingredient.
- Some of the products may contain minor ingredients that are possibly, though unlikely, produced from chametz-based raw materials. All such ingredients are used at a less than 1:60 ratio.
- Liquid versions of these products are preferable to their powdered counterparts.
- Products that contain flavors should only be provided when no unflavored alternative exists.
- Products should be purchased before Passover and stored and maintained separately from Kosher-for-Passover Foods.
- A few - not all - of the Ensure, Glucerna, Pediasure and Jevity products contain oat fiber; the OU has determined that the fiber is not chametz, and the products are permitted to be consumed on Passover.

NON-FOOD ITEMS

The consensus of the OU's poskim (rabbinic authorities) is that the following may be used on Passover without certification:

ALUMINUM FOIL	STYROFOAM)	NAPKINS (PAPER)
ALUMINUM FOIL BAKING PANS	DEODORANTS	OVEN CLEANERS
BABY OINTMENTS	DETERGENTS	PAPER TOWELS
BAGS (PAPER OR PLASTIC)	DISHWASHING DETERGENTS	PERFUMES
BODY WASH	DRAIN OPENERS	PLASTIC CONTAINERS
BOWL AND TUB CLEANERS	FABRIC PROTECTORS	PLATES (PAPER, PLASTIC OR
CANDLES	FURNITURE POLISH	STYROFOAM)
CARDBOARD	GLASS CLEANERS	SCOURING PADS AND POWDERS
CARPET CLEANERS	HAIR GELS, SPRAYS AND	SHAMPOOS
CHARCOAL	MOUSSE	SHAVING CREAM AND GEL
CHEESE CLOTHS	HAIR REMOVERS AND	SHAVING LOTION
CONDITIONERS	TREATMENTS	SILVER POLISH
COPPER AND METAL CLEANERS	HAND SANITIZER	SKIN CREAM
CORK	INSECTICIDES	SOAPS
COSMETICS (EXCEPT POSSIBLY	ISOPROPYL ALCOHOL	SUNTAN LOTION
LIPSTICKS, SEE BELOW)	JEWELRY POLISH	TALCUM POWDER (100% TALC)
CUPCAKE HOLDERS	LAUNDRY DETERGENTS	TOILET BOWL CLEANER
CUPS (PAPER, PLASTIC OR	LOTIONS	WATER FILTERS

ORAL HYGIENE

Oral Hygiene (Toothpaste, Mouthwash) & Flavored Lip Treatment (Lipstick, Lip Balm) Products:

Rabbinical authorities disagree as to whether kosher certification of these items is required (both for Passover and year-round). Consult your Rabbi. Please see product pages in the Passover Guide for OU certified toothpaste.

GUIDELINES FOR MEDICINES

1. Exercise extreme caution and consult with your doctor and rabbi before making a decision not to take a medicine.

2. Known and tested medications in the form of creams, non-chewable pills and injections may be owned, used and consumed on Pesach, even if they contain chametz or kitniyot, since they are inedible. This covers most medicines used by adults. However, if an equally effective chametz-free alternative is available or procurable, this should be used instead.

A. It is permissible to grind pills and mix the powder into food items so that a child can take medicine on Pesach. However, a doctor must be consulted to make sure that the child is getting the correct dosage and that the potency of the pill is not compromised by altering its consistency.

3. Liquid medicines, chewable pills and pills coated with a flavored glaze are considered palatable and may contain chametz.

Also gelcaps may present a problem because they may contain non-kosher edible gelatin. Therefore:

A. If possible, they should be replaced, under the direction of a doctor, with a non-chewable, uncoated pill.

B. If substitution is not possible and the person is in a state of sakana or safek sakana (any possible danger to human life), the medication may be owned and consumed. The same applies if the condition is not yet a safek sakana but may deteriorate to that point. A rabbi should be consulted as to whether it is preferable to purchase the medicine before or during Pesach, and as to how to dispose of the medicine once the danger passes.

C. If substitution is not possible and a doctor determines that there is no possibility of sakana if the person does not take the medicine, a rabbi should be consulted. He may be able to determine that the medicine does not contain chametz and/or kitniyot, or he may decide that the medicine may be consumed due to the seriousness of the patient's condition.

4. Unless an equivalent alternative is available, medicinal items which contain kitniyot are permitted for people who are ill. Questions on this issue should be directed to your rabbi.

5. These guidelines do not address the more general prohibition of consuming medicines on Shabbat and yom tov.

SEFIRAT HAOMER 2026/5786

Sign up for the OU daily sefirah reminder email @ www.ou.org/sefirah

Sefirah is the counting of seven complete weeks from the second evening of Pesach until Shavuot. The count, which takes place after night fall for the following day, is preceded by the blessing only if done in the evening and no days have been missed in the count.

Visit www.ou.org/sefirah to receive an email reminder to count each day. Emails are pre-programmed to go out on each of the 49 days of the Omer to help make sure you don't forget to count!

בְּרוּךְ אַתָּה ה' אֱ-לֹהֵינוּ מֶלֶךְ הָעוֹלָם אֲשֶׁר קִדְּשָׁנוּ בְּמִצְוֹתָיו, וְצִוָּנוּ עַל סִפְרֵי־הָעוֹמֵר.
