

Atlanta Kashruth Commission Pas Yisroel list 5775 (9/23/14)

Pas Yisroel is a term used to describe bread-like foods that are not only kosher, but in which a Jew is involved in the baking process.

Some people are careful to only eat Pas Yisroel all year round.

Some people are careful to eat Pas Yisroel on Shabbos.

Many people try to keep Pas Yisroel during the ten days between Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur.

Pas Yisroel is only applied to bread-like foods made from the five major grains require Pas Yisroel: Wheat, Barley, Rye, Oats, and Spelt. This includes Bread, Bagels, Soft Pretzels, Pizza, Cakes, Pies, Cookies, Crackers, and Croutons.

On some products there is a difference of opinion: Hard Pretzels, Blintzes, Thin Wafers, and Wraps.

Corn and Rice do not require Pas Yisroel.

Par-baked foods that are not completely baked, even though they may be edible, are still considered Pas Yisroel if a Jew finishes the baking process.

According to the OU, breakfast cereals are not subject to the laws Pas Yisroel.
